FINLAY

finlay

AI recruitment platform that combines the work of AI agents with human expertise

Finlay helps startups and companies focused on technology build internal teams faster. We use in-house AI agents that work around the clock to accelerate the search, outreach and pre-screening of candidates. By combining multiple sources, we are able to find up to 40% more candidates. We combine technology with human expertise to shorten the recruitment process and significantly reduce costs. Finlay operates globally and across technology sectors, so it can also support companies' international expansion. We can find talent that is not visible but has a major impact on a company's success. With Finlay, our clients not only get faster recruitment, but also a competitive advantage.

Unique Selling Points:

- Custom AI agents covering the entire recruitment process.
- A combination of technology and human expertise.
- Up to 80% cost savings compared to other solutions.
