A platform for managing STD test results and sharing them securely and anonymously between partners

An innovative platform that digitizes sexual health care. It connects users to certified labs, makes it easy to order STI tests and ensures safe storage of results. A key feature is an anonymous partner notification system and verified status sharing, which builds trust and accountability in relationships. The high level of encryption and emphasis on anonymity removes social stigma.

Unique Selling Points:

- An accessible web platform without barriers: a browser-accessible digital solution that does not require an application download, ensuring discretion and immediate use.
- Unique sharing and notification system: web-based tool for anonymous partner notification and secure sharing of verified health status through unique links.
- Direct integration with laboratories: Automated data exchange with certified sites (via API or email) ensures speed, veracity and integrity of results without the risk of falsification.
- Maximum discretion and security: state-of-the-art data encryption and an emphasis on anonymity right in the platform interface, effectively removing social stigma.
- Scalable model for the EU: web-based architecture allowing easy localisation and rapid expansion without the constraints of distribution platforms.
