CHATLYS.COM

A platform for rapid deployment of AI assistants to automate business processes and work with data.

Companies can build and operate AI solutions tailored to their processes, data and internal systems without the need for extensive development. The platform supports the automation of routine activities, working with corporate knowledge and increasing efficiency while having full control over data, logic and AI behavior.

Unique Selling Points:

- Ability to deploy custom AI models instead of closed “black-box” solutions.
- Quickly create and run custom corporate chatbots without the need for extensive development.
- Full control over corporate data, logic and AI assistant behaviour.
- Easy integration into existing information systems and company processes.
- Scalable solution suitable from small teams to enterprise environments.
