Manyways helps you find interesting events (music, sports, gastronomy, etc.) in the user's vicinity.

The app was created to help people enjoy their free time and find interesting events. A key feature is a map showing events in the vicinity. The user can search according to their interests, have an overview of the plans and also receive alerts and tips. There are details of planned events or links to buy tickets. Manyways implements AI solutions to personalize content. In the future, the project plans a B2B portal for event organizers, its own ticket sales or reservation system. There are also plans to test in the US market abroad.

Unique selling points:

- Map to view events in the vicinity.
- The content is tailored to the user's interests.
- The app connects customers and event organisers.
- An extension of the services to include a B2B portal for booking or selling tickets is planned.
