MEDICMEE

Mobile apps for health data management – always at your fingertips, clear and easy to understand in digital form.

Health records, test results or medical reports often sit in a box at home. At the doctor's office, important information about problems we or our loved ones have had, medications taken, visits to other doctors is missing. We also often don't understand lab results or complicated terms in medical reports. With MedicMee, you will always have everything at your fingertips, digitized and clearly sorted. You'll never get lost in medical terms and lab values again, everything will be translated into an understandable language.

Unique selling points:

- Digitization and archiving of medical reports, laboratory results and other medical documents.
- Unification of data from different doctors or medical facilities – integration with calendar for reminders of doctor visits or ePrescription expirations.
- Customizable health reports for medical professionals.
- User-configurable sharing of selected data.
